While most middle schoolers are playing sports or video games，Samuel Kaspar from the US is doing something different.The 9th grader built an online project to help doctors find pneumonia（肺炎） early.Research shows that this illness causes over 2 million deaths around the world every year.

Kaspar got the idea when his sister became sick with pneumonia.He started learning about how doctors use X－rays to see inside the body. ★X－ray pictures take a long time to load（加载），the machines for checking cost too much，and sometimes doctors get too busy or make mistakes.

Then he had a smart idea."Why not use AI to solve these problems？"So Kaspar created "Machine Learning Model to Check Pneumonia".It stores X－rays in the cloud，which is faster and cheaper.His AI tool can examine chest（胸部） X－rays and look for signs of pneumonia.Best of all，doctors don't need to understand programming to use it.

He also made a friendly chat robot that helps patients understand their results.It uses real medical information to give clear answers.

Kaspar said the hardest part was"connecting all the services"，but he didn't give up.His hard work won him the Lemelson Early Inventor Prize."This gives me more motivation to work harder，he said. "I want to keep learning and help people with technology.Maybe one day I can really make a difference.

56. What made Kaspar come up with the idea to help doctors？ _____

A.A school science project.　B.A doctor's request.　C.His sister's illness.　D.His own experience.

57. Which of the following can be put in"★"？ _____

A.But many doctors had no time.　　B.Or his sister became worse.

C.And he studied X－ray machines.　　D.But Kaspar faced problems.

58. We can know from the passage that Kaspar's AI tool _____ .

A.helps doctors find pneumonia early

B.is too expensive to use

C requires doctors with special training

D.has a chat robot to treat pneumonia

59. What does the underlined word " motivation" in last paragraph probably mean？ _____

A.interest B.difficulty C.surprise D.encouragement

60. What would be the best title for this passage? _____

A.A Teen's Dream of Becoming a Doctor

B.A Teen Inventor Helps in Fighting Pneumonia

C.The Use of AI Tools in Medical Treatment.

D.Winning the Lemelson Inventor Prize

Times change，and with them，so do the places we love.The day I heard that the Bright Bookstore was closing，I felt so sad.This bookstore opened in our neighborhood 50 years ago， serving as a great place where people could connect through their shared love of books.

When I met Old Tim， the store's owner， he told me it was difficult to run a traditional bookstore nowadays.Most young people liked reading e－books and more people bought books online.

Childhood memories came back to me clearly.A group of us kids used to come to the store.We would look through the new books，or simply chat with Tim.We spent lots of hours reading there.Tim encouraged us to share our thoughts by writing them on a large board.

A few months later，I was back and was surprised to see that the Bright.Bookstore was still open for business.It was still old，but inside it was like a different world.In an area，a book reading was going on.Readers were sharing their ideas on a screen instead of the old board and some were reading books on computers.The store even had a coffee shop selling delicious food.Tim told me that the coffee shop now hosted many community events，including book readings，concerts，and movie nights.The bookstore was turned into a place where the book lovers got together and shared ideas and experiences.

"Well，as you can see，technology and creativity have brought my old bookstore into the 21st century!I'm so glad to see that everything I wanted to offer to the community is still here，"Tim said with a smile.

No matter how times change， there are always people who love reading.With the development of technology，traditional bookstores should also change in a creative way.

61. Which picture shows the old way for kids to share their thoughts at the bookstore? _____

D

62. Tim kept the bookstore still open by _____ .

One possible version

Dear Mr. Smith,

I'm writing to join the English Culture Exchange Camp this winter vacation. I'm outgoing and love talking to others. I also work hard at English. I often watch short English movies and practise speaking with my classmates.

I want to join the camp because it allows me to use English in real life, not just in books. I can also learn about different cultures from other people, which sounds interesting.

I can help others in English by sharing easy ways to remember new words, like making word cards.If someone is shy to speak, I'll encourage them and help them to talk freely with others.

Please contact me at Lihua@email.com. I'm looking forward to your early reply.

Yours sincerely,

Li Hua
